Thank you Sean:

As mentioned in our brief call last Friday, our client does not have the employees available to retrieve equipment/vehicles that your clients have transported to distant locations. It is our position that your clients should make arrangements to physically return all equipment/vehicles in their possession that belong to Kingsborough Atlas Tree Surgery, Inc., to the same Santa Rosa location they delivered equipment/vehicles last week which they had stored in Windsor.

In the meantime, while we attempt to meet and confer, if your clients could please confirm the physical address of all equipment referenced in the list you provided on April 4, 2025, we would appreciate it.

Lastly, as we also discussed, please let me know whether your client "Anvil Power, Inc. dba Atlas Tree Surgery" will agree to stay any further action related to a foreclosure it initiated in Nevada County pursuant to a deed of trust given to your client in connection with an alleged LOC agreement between your client and Kingsborough Atlas Tree Surgery, Inc., pending a final resolution/adjudication of the claims between our respective clients.

Regards,

Jeff

Jeff-

As I understand it, Anvil has delivered all of the KBA equipment, which was previously located at Anvil's Windsor Yard, to KBA.

However, we still have no engagement or direction from KBA regarding when it will pick up the remainder of the KBA equipment—which is located at other Anvil facilities. This is despite that we notified you on March 31 that the equipment was being turned over and was ready for KBA to pick it up on April 7.

Please let us know when the remaining KBA equipment will be picked up.

Thanks,

Sean J. Filippini

Jeff-

This email confirms that Anvil will begin delivering the KBA equipment, which is presently located at Anvil's Windsor Yard (as identified on the updated spreadsheet I provided on Friday), tomorrow, Wednesday, and potentially Thursday. Anvil will do its best to get all of the KBA equipment (located in Anvil's Windsor Yard) delivered by Thursday. But if that is not possible, we will follow up regarding additional dates.

The other aspect of the return of KBA's equipment is our proposal that KBA pick up all of the other KBA equipment which is presently located at other Anvil facilities (that are identified on the spreadsheet that I previously provided). A week ago, we proposed that KBA pick up all of that other equipment today. But we have yet to hear anything as to whether, let alone when, KBA will come pick up that other equipment.

Please let us know about the other equipment without further delay.

Thanks,

Sean

Sean:

Per our conversation last Thursday, this will confirm that our client is prepared to receive equipment/vehicles at its Hwy 12 yard located at 6263 Sebastopol Ave, Santa Rosa starting tomorrow, Tuesday, April 8, 2025, at 8:00 am.

Our client is planning on having staffing available to receive equipment and perform some basic in-take until 12:00 pm each day through Thursday, April 10, 2025. If that is not sufficient time for Anvil to return equipment, let's discuss – as our client will need to make additional staffing arrangements.

Please make sure each piece of equipment and or vehicle has keys, current registration documents and any remote control required to operate the equipment.

Thanks,

Jeff

Subject: RE: Atlas v. Anvil--Return of KBA Equipment

Jeff and Team-

I have attached a slightly updated list of equipment which has some slight modifications to the equipment list I sent on April 2.

To date, we still have no response to any of my emails proposing the process and timeline for the return of the KBA equipment. Jeff and I spoke last night and Jeff expressed that KBA was not going to be ready to retrieve the equipment on the timeframes we have proposed and that he would need to get back to me as to when it would be ready to receive the equipment that Anvil has proposed to deliver or when KBA would be ready to pick up the equipment that Anvil has proposed be picked up. I have not heard back since.

Anvil's patience in waiting for a response has reached an end. As noted in my below email, a week and a half ago KBA represented to the Court that the equipment needed to be turned over immediately because it was in danger. Yet now that Anvil has voluntarily offered to return it, KBA will not agree to the return. Gamesmanship appears to be the most likely explanation.

Accordingly, please be advised that Anvil intends to begin returning the KBA equipment (located in Anvil's Windsor Yard) to KBA's Santa Rosa (highway 12) facility on Monday, April 7. If the gates on the facility are locked, Anvil will leave the equipment in the lot outside of the facility and/or on the side of the street outside of the facility.

Thanks,

Sean J. Filippini

Subject: RE: Atlas v. Anvil--Return of KBA Equipment

Jeff and Team-

Aside from a call yesterday morning with Jeff—where Jeff indicated that Anvil's proposal for the return of KBA's equipment was likely workable—I have yet to hear anything in response to any of my emails regarding the return of the equipment, the first of which was on Monday.

In its motion for turnover order, KBA sought the "immediate" return of the equipment, expressing a belief that the equipment was not being maintained and was being negligently utilized. That being the case, our expectation was that KBA's engagement with us on these issues would be immediate and pro-active. That has not been the case.

Please let us know if we can proceed as outlined below.

Anvil would like to begin delivering the KBA equipment from its Windsor yard immediately.

Additionally, Anvil needs to know immediately whether KBA will be picking up the remaining equipment on April 7, as proposed below.

Please let me know at your earliest convenience.

Thanks,

Sean
